THE GREAT GENETIC FARCE

Well, dear readers, the time has come to unearth truths that would make the modern Pharisees of the Synagogue of Satan lose sleep—if these descendants of Esau-Edom ever cared about inconvenient truths. Nature, that publication of the Anglo-Saxon scientific elite (oh, what delicious irony!), published a study in August 2018 that inadvertently dealt a deadly blow to the claims of the self-proclaimed " chosen ones" who currently occupy the Holy Land as Canaanite and Edomite invaders disguised as Hebrews.

These Harvard researchers, with their expensive microscopes and state-of-the-art DNA sequencers, unearthed twenty-two skeletons from a cave called Peqi'in, in the northern territory that is today called Israel (but should more appropriately be named Occupied Palestine by the Sons of Cain). And what did they discover? They found that the true Heirs of the Promise—those who lived in the Holy Land during the Chalcolithic period (4500-3900 BCE)—were, astonishingly, blue-eyed and light-skinned.

Forty-nine percent of this population carried allele G at marker rs12913832, near gene OCA2, which has been scientifically proven to be responsible for blue eyes in European populations. But wait! There's more! These Beloved of the Lord were completely fixed (100% of the population!) on the derived allele A at marker rs1426654 of gene SLC24A5—the most important determinant of light pigmentation in Western Eurasian populations.

Let me translate this into a language that even a traitorous mason could understand: the true biblical inhabitants of the Holy Land were Caucasians with light eyes, exactly like the Iberian, French, British, and other European peoples that serious theologians have always identified as the true Lost Tribes of Israel.

FROM ANATOLIA AND PERSIA CAME THE MISSIONARIES OF THE MOST HIGH

But it gets even more interesting when we examine the genetic composition of these Heirs of the Promise. Scientists, using their qpAdm methodology (which sounds like the name of a demon but serves our purposes), determined that the population of Peqi'in was a tri-partite mixture:

• 57% of Levantine Neolithic ancestry (the local farmers, already established since time immemorial) • 26% of Neolithic Anatolian ancestry (coming from what is today the Turkey, land of the Hittites)

• 17% of Chalcolithic Iranian ancestry (from the lands of ancient Persia)

Well, what an extraordinary coincidence! Sacred texts have always told us that Abraham (the father of the faithful, not to be confused with the current fraudulent occupants of Palestine) came from Ur of the Chaldeans, in Mesopotamia—precisely the region corresponding to this Iranian-Mesopotamian ancestry. And what about the Anatolian migrations? They are perfectly consistent with the narratives of the movements of the Heirs through Anatolia.

But pay attention to the detail that researchers mention almost in passing: nine out of ten men from this population belonged to the Y-chromosomal haplogroup T. Not to haplogroup E (which dominated previous Levantine populations, likely Hamites or other pre-Adamic peoples). Not to haplogroup J (which mysteriously appears in later Bronze Age populations, after the Edomite infiltration had already occurred). But to haplogroup T—a lineage that diversified in the Near East but, interestingly, is also found in significant frequencies in... wait for it... Portugal, Spain, and Italy.

THE GREAT DISAPPEARANCE: GENOCIDE OR PROPHETIC EXODUS?

Here we arrive at the part that would make any offspring of Samael tremble with fear. The study concludes, with cold scientific objectivity, that this Chalcolithic population with blue eyes and light skin did NOT GENETICALLY CONTRIBUTE to the subsequent populations of the Bronze Age in the southern Levant.

Read again, to make it very clear: they disappeared. They vanished. They became extinct from the Holy Land.

Scientists, trapped in their materialist paradigms, speak modestly of "genetic discontinuity," "population replacement," and "potential extinction event."

They draw attention to the archaeological record that shows "widespread abandonment of sites," "dramatic changes in settlement patterns," and the " disappearance of secondary burials in ossuaries"—funerary practices characteristic of this Chalcolithic culture.

But we, who read the Scriptures with eyes not clouded by the poison of modernism, know exactly what happened: it was the Exodus. It was the great prophesied migration. The Heirs of the Promise did not "disappear"—they left. They moved westward, following the path of the sun, crossing the Mediterranean, first settling in the islands (Crete, Sardinia, Corsica, the Balearic Islands), and then along the Iberian, Gallic, and British coasts.

Meanwhile, who was left behind? Ah, that is the crucial question! Researchers note that the populations of the Bronze Age (such as those from 'Ain Ghazal in Jordan) could be modeled as mixtures of only Levantine Neolithic ancestry (58%) and Chalcolithic Iranian ancestry (42%), but without the Anatolian component that characterized the Heirs of the Promise from Peqi'in. Even more revealing: these newcomers from the Bronze Age belonged to haplogroup J—the genetic marker that, centuries later, would become predominant among the... you guessed it... J ews.

EDOM DRESSED AS ISRAEL: A MILLENNIUM USURPATION

Building on the previously discussed concept of Edomite identity (as masterfully presented in "Who is Esau-Edom" and "The Mask of Edom"), these genetic findings provide inadvertent scientific validation to the theological thesis that today's Jews are descendants not of Jacob, but of Esau.

Let us remember the biblical narrative: Esau (Edom) sold his birthright for a bowl of lentils. He married Canaanite and Hittite women (Genesis 36), thus contaminating his lineage. His descendants settled in Seir, south of Judea. And the prophecy was clear: Edom would be brought low, but would constantly attempt to usurp the place of Israel.

In Romans 9:13, the Apostle Paul (not to be confused with Pharisee Saul, since we are speaking of the converted Paul, the true Missionary to the Gentiles—this term, by the way, is a fraudulent translation of "ethnos," which simply means "nations," referring to the Israelite nations scattered throughout Europe) quotes Malachi: "I loved Jacob and hated Esau."

Genetic discoveries show us the following pattern:

Chalcolithic period (4500-3900 BCE):

Population: Haplogroup T (male)

Phenotype: Blue eyes (49%), light skin (fixed at 100%)

Composition: 57% Levant + 26% Anatolia + 17%
Iran Identification: True Heirs of the Promise

Bronze Age Period (after 3900 BCE):

Population: Haplogroup J (male)

Composition: 58% Levant + 42% Iran, SEM anatomical component

Origin: Arrival of new populations

Identification: Edomite infiltration and mixing with other Semitic peoples

The study is explicit: "groups related to Levant_ChL contributed little to the ancestry of Levant_BA_South". In clear language: the true Israelites are not the ancestors of the populations that came later in the region.

THE LOST TRIBES WERE NOT LOST—THEY WERE IN EUROPE

Now transitioning to the Ibero-Israelite implications of this monumental discovery, we must connect the dots between ancient genetics and the historical-linguistic evidence compiled in the texts "The Celts are Israelites by Another Name", "The Migrations of the Twelve Tribes", and "Hebrew-Celtic Connection".

If the true Heirs of the Promise disappeared from the Holy Land around 3900 BCE, where did they go? European archaeology provides the answer, although mainstream historians—infected by the virus of political correctness and funded by foundations of German-Khazarian surnames—refuse to acknowledge it.

Precisely during the 4th millennium BCE, we witness the flourishing of megalithic culture in Western Europe. In Portugal specifically, we see:

Dolmens and Antas (4000-3000 BCE) - Monumental funerary structures similar to those found... in Anatolia and Mesopotamia! The text "Megaliths, Celts, and Israelites" documents that the tholos tombs (dome-shaped) in the Iberian Peninsula are architecturally identical to those of Tell Halaf in northern Mesopotamia.

Bell Beaker pottery (3000-2500 BCE) - The famous culture of the "Bell Beaker" (Bell Beaker Culture), which spread from the Iberian Peninsula throughout Western Europe. Researchers mention in the study that samples from the Middle Bronze Age of Ebla (Syria) require a "source similar to the Bell Beaker" to explain their genetic composition—thus admitting a back-migration of European populations back to the Near East! Delicious!

The Basque People - "Are the Basques Israelites?" asks the title of one of the analyzed documents. The answer is affirmative when we consider that the Basques exhibit:

High frequencies of Rh negative (characteristic of ancient populations of Near Eastern origin)

A language that is isolated, with no kinship to the surrounding Indo-European languages

Cultural traditions of burial in dolmens

Legends of having arrived "from the sea" and from "eastern lands"

PORTUGAL AND SPAIN: THE PROMISED LANDS OF THE WEST

But why specifically would the Iberian Peninsula have been the preferred destination for these migrations of the Heirs of the Promise? The answer lies in a combination of prophecy biblical, sacred geography, and historical evidence.

In "The Marks of Israel in Portugal and Spain," the author identifies multiple characteristics that distinguish the true Israelites from the impostor nations:

Mark 1: "Blessed with wheat and wine" (Deuteronomy 33:28)

Portugal and Spain have been excellent producers of cereals and world-class wines since time immemorial. Port Wine, the wines of La Rioja, and Portuguese olive oil—are a direct fulfillment of the agricultural blessings promised to Israel.

Mark 2: "Islands of the sea and remote coasts" (Isaiah 24:15, 42:4, 49:1)

The Iberian Peninsula is precisely this—the westernmost coast of Europe, the "islands" at the end of the known world. The very name "Spain" possibly derives from "I-span-ya" (Island of the North, in Phoenician)—a reference to its almost-insular peninsular position.

Zephaniah 3:10: "Beyond the rivers of Ethiopia"

In a correct geographical interpretation (not referring to the African Ethiopia, but to the lands to the south and west), Portugal is literally situated "beyond" when viewed from a Mesopotamian perspective—at the westernmost edge of the inhabited world.

Marc Deuteronomy 8:9, Job 28: "Wealth of silver, gold, and precious metals"

The Roman mines of Las Médulas (Leon), the silver mines of Zacatecas exported via Porto, and the Brazilian gold that passed through Lisbon—the Iberian Peninsula has historically been a center of metallurgical wealth. And who brought advanced metallurgical knowledge? Genetic studies mention that Chalcolithic culture was characterized by the "lost wax" technique for copper casting—exactly the same technique that appears in megalithic Europe!

Isaiah 60:5,9; Psalm 107:23: "Maritime greatness and navigation"

The Age of Discoveries! Portugal and Spain, two small nations, dominated the world's seas in the 15th-17th centuries. Coincidence? No—it's a prophetic fulfillment of the promise that Israel would be "the head and not the tail" among the nations (Deuteronomy 28:13).

LINGUISTIC TESTIMONY: WHEN HEBREW MET CELTIC

Transitioning to philological evidence (because we, unlike modernists, believe that multiple converging lines of evidence establish truth), let us examine the astonishing similarities between ancient Hebrew and the Celtic languages preserved in Galician, Archaic Portuguese, Basque, and Iberian dialects.

The document "Hebrew-Celtic Connection" provides devastating examples:

Lexical Similarities Hebrew-Gaelic:

Hebrew Gaelic Meaning Notes Aish (אִישׁ) Ish Man Almost perfect identity Ishah (אִשָּׁה) Ish Woman (context) Common root Beth (בַּיִת) Both Ḥouse, dwelling Preservation of the initial 'b' Eben (אֶבֶן) Aben Stone Identical consonantal structure Cabar/Gaber (גִּבֵּר) Gabhair Strong, powerful Preserved root G-B-R Achah (אָחוֹת) Acha Sister Family relationship

But wait! In the Iberian dialects, we find even more impressive preservations. s:

Archaic Portuguese/Galician:

Abbot (אַבָּא, "father") → "Abade" (father, spiritual father) Lord (אֲדוֹן, "lord") → "Dom" (Portuguese/Spanish noble title) Marquês (מָקוֹם, "place") → "Marquês" (lord of a place/territorial mark) Coña (כֹּהֵן, "priest") → "Coña" (Portuguese familiar term, possibly degraded)

Revealing Toponymy:

Let's consider the place names in the Iberian Peninsula that shout their Israelite origin :

Bragança (Portugal) - From "Beth-Gad-Ansa" (House of Gad, tribe of the flock) Zamora (Spain) - From "Shomron" (Samaria, capital of the Northern Kingdom)

Seville - Possibly from "Shefel-Yah" (Plain of Yah)

Toledo - From "Toledot" (תּוֹלְדוֹת, "generations", "history")

Galicia (Galiza) - From "Gaulesa" which derives from "Galut" (גָּלוּת, "exile")—the land of the Israelite exile!

The Freemasons and their academic accomplices dismiss such correspondences as " coincidences" or "popular etymologies." But when we have hundreds of such correspondences across multiple linguistic layers, associated with converging genetic, archaeological, and cultural evidence, only an intellectual blind person (or a deliberate agent of disinformation) could deny the pattern.

THE AMORITES: THE "BACK-MIGRANTS" BELL BEAKER

Let us now return to the genetic study, because there is a small bomb hidden in its findings that the researchers mention almost shamefully. When they modeled samples from the Middle Bronze Age of Ebla (Syria, 2700-1800 BCE), they discovered that a "source similar to the Bell Beaker" was needed to achieve a proper statistical fit. They estimated that this mixing occurred around 2737-2574 BCE.

So, what does this mean? It means that European populations returned to the Near East during the Bronze Age! A back-migration! And who were these mysterious "Bell Beakers" that returned to the lands of their ancestors?

Assyrian and Babylonian historical texts refer to them as Amurru (Amorites)—literally "the Westerners." Egyptian descriptions of these Amorites in mural paintings (particularly in the Tomb of Rekhmire) show us how:

Light skin

Blond and red hair

Blue eyes

Bar different beards (not the curly black beards of southern Semites)

Exactly the phenotype that genetics tells us the Heirs of the Promise from Peqi'in possessed! Exactly the phenotype of the European Bell Beakers!

The complete cycle reveals itself:

3900 BCE → Heirs of the Promise (blue eyes, light skin, haplogroup T) migrate from the Holy Land to Western Europe ↓

3000-2500 BCE → They establish the Bell Beaker Culture in Iberia, which spreads throughout Europe ↓

2700 BCE → Some groups return to the Near East (back-migration) as "Amorites" ↓

2000-1500 BCE → Patriarchal Period (Abraham, Isaac, Jacob) - These were returning Amorites/Bell Beakers! ↓

1200 BCE → Exodus from Egypt and conquest of Canaan ↓

722 BCE → C Assyrian captivity of the 10 Northern Tribes → Final dispersion to Europe ↓

586 BCE → Babylonian captivity of Judah and Benjamin → Majority returns to Europe; remainder mixes with Edomites ↓

70 CE → Destruction of the Second Temple → End of racial Israel in Palestine; Edomite-Cossacks

usurp the identity

ABRAHAM, THE AMORITE: DEMOLISHING A THOUSAND YEARS OF LIES

This historical reconstruction has explosive theological implications. If Abraham was an Amorite —that is, a descendant of the Bell Beakers who returned to the Near East— then he was not a "Semite" in the modern racial sense of the term. He was a European (or proto-European) who returned to the ancestral land of his Chalcolithic ancestors!

This perfectly explains why:

Abraham came from "Ur of the Chaldeans" - The Chaldeans were a people who arrived in Mesopotamia from the north and west, bringing advanced metallurgical technology. This is perfectly consistent with Bell Beaker populations.

The patriarchal narratives in the tablets of Mari and Nuzi - The document mentions that the cuneiform tablets of Mari contain names "amorites" almost identical to the biblical ones:

a-bi-ra-am (Abraham)

ia-aṣ-ḫa-qí-im (Isaac)

ia-aḫ-qú-ub-DINGIR (Jacob)

These texts date back to the 18th century BCE and describe social practices (adoption of heirs, concubinage for progeny, the legal reason "sister-wife") that correspond exactly to the narratives in Genesis!

The strict patriarchal endogamy - Abraham insists that Isaac should not marry Canaanites. Jacob is sent to Haran to marry cousins. Why? Because they maintained racial purity! They did not mix with the degenerate Hamitic and Semitic populations that occupied Canaan.

They wanted to preserve the Europoid lineage of the Bell Beakers!

Physical descriptions of the patriarchs - Although the Scriptures are sparse in physical descriptions (because race was obvious to contemporaries), the details we have are revealing:

Esau was "ruddy" (אַדְמוֹנִי) - Generally translated as "red" or "reddish." This term also appears to describe David (1 Samuel 16:12, 17:42). It is a marker for red hair and a light complexion—Celtic phenotype!

Abraham's wife (Sarah) was so beautiful that pharaohs desired her - In a land of dark-skinned Egyptians, what kind of exotic beauty could be so captivating? A blonde or redhead with blue eyes!

José in Egypt was not recognized by his brothers - When they reunited, the brothers did not identify him (Genesis 42). Why? Some suggest it was merely the Egyptian context. But consider: if José adopted an Egyptian style yet remained racially distinct (white among non-whites), he would have been more easily recognized! Unless... he could pass for Egyptian because some elite Egyptians (possibly descendants of the Hyksos) were also Europoid!

DAVID AND SOLOMON: ARYAN KINGS OF ISRAEL

The description of King David's physique is particularly revealing. In 1 Samuel 16:12 we read:

"He was 'ruddy' (אַדְמוֹנִי), with beautiful eyes and a handsome appearance."

And again in 1 Samuel 17:42:

"David saw him and despised him; for he was a youth, 'ruddy' and of handsome appearance."

The word "admoni" (Strong's H132) comes from the root "adam" (אָדָם), which means "reddish" or "flushed." Modern translations vary:

KJV: "ruddy" (flushed, with rosy cheeks)

NIV: "healthy" (healthy—a politically correct euphemism!)

Septuagint (Greek): "pyrrhakos" (πυρράκος)—literally "color of fire," designating red hair!

A man with dark or olive skin is not described as "ruddy" because the blood flush is not visible through dense melanin pigmentation. Only light skin allows to see the "red" of the facial blood flow—hence "ruddy" is an unmistakable marker of Nordic-Celtic phenotype.

And what about Solomon? The Song of Songs (attributed to Solomon) provides us with an extraordinary clue. In Song of Songs 5:10-11, the bride describes her beloved:

"My beloved is white ['tsach', H6703] and blonde/red ['adom', H122], distinguished among ten thousand. His head is pure gold..."

The word "tsach" (צַח) means "dazzling

THE GREAT GENETIC FARCE: WHEN SCIENCE EXPOSED THE IMPOSTORS OF SAMAEL (continuation)

The word "tsach" (צַח) means "dazzlingly white", "radiant", "hyper-depigmented". It is not simply "white" in the sense of non-black skin; it is a luminous white, the kind found in the purest Nordic and Celtic populations. When combined with " adom" (reddish/blonde), we get an unequivocal portrait: Solomon, the wisest king of Israel, was a white man with light hair.

But wait! The modernists and the Judeo-Christians (that ecumenical heresy that has infected American Protestant churches) will protest: "But in the Song of Solomon 1:5, the bride says 'I am black'!" Ah, yes, that poorly translated verse that has caused so much confusion! Let's take a look at the complete Hebrew text:

"I am black and beautiful, O daughters of Jerusalem" (שְׁחוֹרָה אֲנִי וְנָאוָה בְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלִָם)

The critical word is "shchorah" (שְׁחוֹרָה). Honest translations (even the Greek Septuagint) recognize that this means "darkened" or "tanned" (by the sun), not "black" in the racial sense! The bride herself explains in the next verse (1:6): "Do not look at me because I am tanned['shcharchoret'], because the burning sun has scorched me."

Any Portuguese person who has worked during the grape harvest under the scorching sun of August is well aware of this phenomenon: light skin tans, beco ming temporarily dark. This line, therefore, confirms that the bride was originally of light skin (because only light skin tans visibly to the point of causing social commentary). A woman genuinely of Negroid race would not need to "apologize" f or being dark-skinned—it would be the norm!

THE 'ISRAELITE' PHENOTYPE: PROPHECY FULFILLED IN EUROPE

Now consolidating all the phenotypic evidence scattered throughout the Scriptures, a consistent portrait of the true Heirs of the Promise emerges:

Light Pigmentation Markers:

"Admoni" (אַדְמוֹנִי) - Applied to Esau (Genesis 25:25), David (1 Samuel 16:12, 17:42). It indicates red hair and light pink skin.

"Tsach" (צח) - Applied to the beloved in Song of Solomon 5:10. It means dazzling whiteness, hyper- depigmentation.

"Leukos" (λευκός) - In the Septuagint and the New Testament (Matthew 17:2, when Christ was transfigured). It indicates luminous whiteness, very light blonde hair.

"Yeraqon" (יֶרֶק, H3420) - In Jeremiah 30:6, used to describe faces that " pale" from terror. Only light skin can visibly "pale"! Peoples with dark pigmentation do not exhibit visible paleness in situations of fear or illness.

Comparisons with snow and milk - Lamentations 4:7 describes the princes of Judah: "Their nobles were whiter than snow, they were whiter than milk." This is not vague poetic language—it's a precise physical description of Nordic aristocracy!

Facial and Hair Characteristics:

Hair in "wavy locks" - Song of Solomon 5:11 describes the beloved's hair as " bushy and black as a raven" in English translations, but the Hebrew "taltalim" (תַּלְתַּלִּים) means "wavy," "curly" (not afro-textured hair). And "shahor" here can simply mean "dark" (dark brown, not black), in contrast to very light blonde.

"Doves' eyes" - Song of Solomon 1:15, 4:1 use this expression. Doves have light-colored eyes (blue-gray). Comparing human eyes to doves suggests light-colored eyes, not dark brown.

Distinct beards - The Hebrews were commanded not to "round the corners of their beards" (Leviticus 19:27). Egyptian representations of the Amorites show distinctive pointed beards, long beards—characteristics of Indo-European peoples, not of southern Semites who often had shorter, curly beards.

THE CASE OF THE NAZARENE: WAS CHRIST A BLONDE GALILEAN?

Ah, but now we arrive at the most controversial point of all! The question that makes modernists foam with rage: what was the physical appearance of Christ?

Modern churches, in a state of multicultural capitulation, take pleasure in presenting a "Jesus" with dark skin, curly hair, and an aquiline nose, perfectly indistinguishable from a modern Ashkenazi Jew (who, ironically, is genetically Khazar-European!). But historical and scriptural evidence tells a different story.

Evidence 1: The Letter of Publius Lentulus

This document, preserved in medieval manuscripts but allegedly copied from 1st-century sources, describes Christ in unmistakable terms:

"...of average height and well-proportioned; of venerable appearance; hair the color of ripe wine [that is, chestnut-red], smooth to the ears and then a bit curly and shinier, flowing over the shoulders; parted in the middle of the head according to the custom of the Nazarenes; broad and smooth forehead; face without blemish or wrinkle, beautified by a moderate blush..."

Let us note the markers: chestnut-red hair (not black), broad forehead (a Nordic characteristic), a face that shows blush (impossible in highly pigmented skin).

Evidence 2: The Messianic Prophecies about Beauty

Psalm 45:2-3, recognized as a messianic psalm, declares:

"You are more beautiful than the sons of men; grace is poured upon your lips... gird your sword on your thigh, O Mighty One, with your glory and your majesty."

Isaiah 53:2, in contrast, speaks of the Suffering Servant "without form or beauty"—but this refers to the state of humiliation during the Passion, not to natural appearance. The transfiguration (Matthew 17:2) reveals the true glory: "his face shone like the sun, and his clothes became as white as light."

The Greek term used is "leukos" (λευκός) and "lampros" (λαμπρός)—radiant whiteness, brilliance. John's vision in Revelation 1:14-15 describes him with "white hair like wool" and "eyes like a flame of fire." White hair does not mean senility; in the apocalyptic context, it signifies purity and heavenly glory. However, eyes "like a flame of fire" suggest eyes that reflect light intensely—light-colored eyes (blue or green), not dark brown that absorb light.

Evidence 3: The Origin Galilee

Christ was from Galilee, a region known for its racially distinct population compared to the south. The Jews of Judea despised the Galileans (John 7:52: "Examine and you will see that no prophet arises from Galilee"). Why this distinction?

Galilee was colonized by the northern tribes—Zebulun, Naphtali, Asher—who had more contact with Phoenicians, Greeks, and other northern Mediterranean peoples. Isaiah 9:1 refers to it as "Galilee of the Gentiles" (Galil ha-Goyim, גליל ה־ גוים)—literally "Galilee of the Nations," suggesting an ethnically mixed or non-Jewish population. This would perfectly align with a population that preserved characteristics of the original Bell Beakers/Amorites, while Judea to the south had undergone greater mixing with Edomites and other Semitic populations.

Evidence 4: The Ability to "Disappear" in Crowds

John 8:59 and Luke 4:30 record that Christ "concealed himself" and "passed through the midst of them" when threatened by hostile crowds. If he were racially identical to the surrounding Jews, how could he disappear into a crowd? It only makes sense if there was a visible racial distinction: in a mixed crowd of Galileans (Europoids) and Jews (increasingly mixed with Edomites), someone could move among the different ethnic groups.

THE THEOLOGICAL IMPLICATIONS: EDOM CRUCIFIED ISRAEL

Building on the previously established thesis of the Edomite identity of modern Jews, and now armed with genetic evidence that the true Heirs of the Promise were Europoids with light eyes, we can finally unravel the central theological mystery: who crucified Christ?

The standard answer "the Jews" is simultaneously correct and misleading, because it depends on how we define "Jews." If by "Jews" we mean the Heirs of the Promise, the racial descendants of the Twelve Tribes, then no, they did not crucify Christ—because most of the true Israelites were no longer in Palestine in the 1st century!

The Ten Northern Tribes had been taken captive by Assyria in 722 BCE and never returned. They migrated through the Caucasus (hence "Caucasians"!) to Europe. The evidence in "The Migrations of the Twelve Tribes" documents the routes:

Tribe of Dan → Denmark (Danmark = "Mark of Dan"), Danube River, tribes "Tuatha De Danann" in Ireland

Tribe of Gad → Goths, Getae (Getas), Gotland (Sweden)

Tribe of Simeon → Sicambrians (ancestors of the Franks)

Tribe of Zebulun → Rhineland (Netherlands/Germany)

Tribe of Asher → Switzerland (Helvetii)

Tribe of Naphtali → Norway

Tribe of Issachar → Finland/Estonia

Tribe of Benjamin → Normans, Bretons

Tribe of Joseph (Ephraim and Manasseh) → England and United States (blessings of maritime greatness and "multitude of nations")

Tribe of Judah → Iberia (Portugal and Spain), Scotland, Ireland

Even Judah and Benjamin, which constituted the Kingdom of the South, suffered the Babylonian captivity (586 BCE)

). Although a remnant returned under Ezra and Nehemiah to rebuild the Temple, most remained dispersed or migrated west.

Who then repopulated Judea in the following centuries? The texts are clear: Edomites (Idumeans). When the Babylonians conquered Jerusalem, the Edomites allied themselves with the conquerors (Psalm 137:7: "Remember, LORD, the sons of Edom, who said on the day of Jerusalem: Tear it down, tear it down to its foundations!"). They took advantage of the vacuum to occupy Jewish lands to the south.

During the Hellenistic period, John Hyrcanus (134-104 BCE) conquered Idumea and forcibly converted the Edomites to Judaism. This "conversion" was purely religious-cultural; it did not alter the genetic reality: they remained descendants of Esau. And where did the Herodian dynasty, which ruled at the time of Christ, co me from? From Idumea! Herod the Great was an Edomite, the son of Antipater the Idumean.

The "Jews" who conspired to crucify Christ were, therefore, led by Caiaphas (the high priest) and the Sanhedrin—a corrupted elite that no longer represented true racial Israel. They were the children of Samael, the offspring of the Serpent, the Synagogue of Satan that Christ himself denounced in John 8:44:

"You are of your father the devil, and you want to do the desires of your father. He was a murderer from the beginning..."

Who was a murderer "from the beginning"? Cain, who killed Abel. And from whom did Cain descend? The theology of the "Two-Seedline," presented in "The Seeds of Genesis 3:15" and in the text "Lost Tribes of Israel - The Book of Genetics," argues that Cain was not the son of Adam, but the result of an illicit union between Eve and the Serpent (Samael/Satan in physical form). Therefore, there are two lineages in humanity:

Seed of the Woman → Seth → Noah (pure line) → Shem → Abraham → Isaac → Jacob/Israel →The Twelve Tribes → European Peoples

Seed of the Serpent → Cain → Canaanites → Mix with Esau/EDOM → " modern "Jews" (not all, but the Pharisaic-Talmudic line)

THE APOSTLES: ARYAN MISSIONARIES TO THE WEST

But if the true Israelites were already dispersed throughout Europe, why did Christ send apostles to "preach the Gospel to every creature"? The answer becomes obvious when we examine where the apostles actually went.

The tradition of the Church (suppressed by Romanists but preserved in Celtic churches) records :

Saint James, the Greater → Spain! The document "James as the Evangelist to the Israelites in Portugal and Spain" provides extensive evidence that James preached in the Iberian Peninsula, where he was martyred (Santiago de Compostela preserves the relics). Why Spain? Because the dispersed of Judah were there!

Saint Paul → Anatolia, Greece, Rome, and planned to go to Spain (Romans 15:24,28). His Epistle to the Romans was not written to Edomites, but to the Israelites in the capital of the empire—many of whom were slaves or descendants of the legions that had served in the East. The Epistle to the Galatians was addressed to the Celts of Galatia (Anatolia)—tribes that had migrated and preserved their Israelite identity.

Saint Peter → His first epistle is addressed to the "scattered foreigners" (1 Peter 1:1) in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia—all regions with dispersed Israelite populations. Ancient Irish tradition claims that Peter visited the British Isles.

Saint John → Ephesus (Anatolia), later exiled to Patmos (Greece).

Saint Philip → France (Gaul), according to Provençal traditions.

Saint Bartholomew → Armenia and possibly even to India (where there were commercial Israelite communities).

Santo André → Cítia (a region north of the Black Sea, a route of Israelite migrations) and, according to the Scots, to Scotland!

Did you notice the pattern? They all went north and west, following the routes of the Lost Tribes! None went to sub-Saharan Africa, none to China, none to pre-Columbian America (although this is debatable). They were in search of the lost sheep of the House of Israel (Matthew 10:6, 15:24).

THE TERM "GENTILES": THE MOST PROFITABLE TRANSLATION FRAUD IN HISTORY

Here we must pause to dismantle one of the biggest lies perpetuated by modern translations: the word "Gentiles."

In the Greek New Testament, the word is "ethnos" (ἔθνος), plural "ethne" (ἔθνη). The literal meaning is simply "nation" or "people." The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the Old Testament) uses "ethne" to translate the Hebrew "goyim" (גּוֹיִם), which also simply means "nations."

Crucially, "goyim" in the Old Testament often refers to the nations of Israel! For example:

Genesis 17:4-5: God promises Abraham that he will be the father of a " multitude of nations" (hamon goyim)

Genesis 48:19: Ephraim will become a "multitude of nations" (melo ha-goyim)

Isaiah 49:6: The Messiah will be a "light to the nations" to restore the tribes of Jacob

The term never meant "non-Jews" in a racial sense! It simply meant peoples/nations, potentially including Israel or others. The translation for " Gentiles" (derived from the Latin "gentilis", pagan) was a deliberate corruption by the Roman Church to create a false dichotomy between "Jews" (whom they clai med had rejected Christ) and "Gentiles" (all others, who could be converted).

This linguistic fraud served political purposes:

- To universalize Christianity by removing its Israelite-national character
- To Judaize the Church by accepting that "Jews" were the biblical Israel (when they were Edomites)
- To obscure the identity of the Lost Tribes in Europe

When Christ tells the apostles, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16:15), and "you will be my witnesses... to the ends of the earth" (Acts 1:8), he is not speaking of converting Africans, Asians, or Native Americans. He is talking about reaching the scattered Israelites to the ends of the inhabited world—which in biblical terminology means the far west: Iberia and the British Isles!

MASONRY: THE TRAITORS OF THE RACE

No analysis of Ibero-Israelism would be complete without exposing the nefarious role of Freemasonry in the suppression of these truths. The documents refer to the " traitor Freemasons," and rightly so.

Modern Freemasonry, officially founded in 1717 with the Grand Lodge of London, is the continuation of earlier secret societies (Templars, Rosicrucians, etc.) that were, in essence, Judaizing Kabbalists. Although many lower-degree Freemasons are naive men who believe they belong to a philanthropic brotherhood, the higher degrees (33rd of the Scottish Rite, degrees of the York Rite, Shriners) are initiated into mysteries that are fundamentally anti-Christ and pro-Jewish.

Evidence 1: Jewish Symbolism

Enter the interior of any Masonic lodge and you will see:

The Hexagram (incorrectly referred to as the "Star of David," but actually a late Kabbalistic symbol)

Constant references to the "Temple of Solomon" (while ignoring Christ, the true Temple)

Hebrew terms: Boaz and Jachin (columns), Tubal-Cain (password), YHWH/Jahbulon (blasphemous compound name that mixes YHWH with Baal and Osiris!)

Evidence 2: Infiltration of the European Monarchies

The Iberian Catholic monarchies—Portugal and Spain—have historically been anti-Masonic. The Inquisition (unjustly vilified by Masonic historians) persecuted not only Jews who secretly practiced Judaism (Marranos/New Christians) but also secret societies.

Why? Because the Church, despite its corruptions, recognized that these societies were subversive to the Christian order. And they were right! What happened when Freemasonry gained strength?

1755: Lisbon Earthquake—many see the hand of Providence punishing Portugal, but others note the strange presence of English and French secret societies at the court of King Joseph I, influencing the Marquis of Pombal (suspected of Masonic sympathies).

1789: French Revolution—orchestrated by Masonic lodges (Jacobins, Bavarian Illuminati), resulted in the genocide of the Catholic aristocracy and the destruction of the monarchy.

1820: Liberal Revolution in Portugal—led by Freemasons, it overthrew the absolute monarchy.

1910: Establishment of the Republic in Portugal—a Masonic coup that assassinated King Carlos I and exiled King Manuel II, the last legitimate king.

1931: Second Spanish Republic—a regime that was anti-clerical and anti-monarchical, leading to the Civil War.

Do you notice the pattern? The Iberian Christian monarchies—repositories of the true Heirs of the Promise—were systematically destroyed by Masonic-Jewish forces! This is not a coincidence; it is spiritual warfare. EDOM fights against Jacob, the Seed of the Serpent against the Seed of the Woman.

Evidence 3: The Masonic Control of Archaeology and Historiography

Why do modern universities reject any suggestion of Israelite connections with Europe? Because the departments of history and archaeology have been captured by academics trained in institutions controlled by Masonic-Jewish interests.

Consider:

The systematic denial of genetic evidence showing R1b (the dominant haplogroup of Western Europe) with Near Eastern origins

The suppression of comparative linguistic studies between HEBREW and Celtic languages

The ridicule poured over British Israelism and related theories is not based on arguments, but rather on ad hominems and appeals to authority.

The funding of archaeological excavations in Israel by Zionist organizations that have an interest in promoting narratives that legitimize the modern State of Israel.

RETURN OF THE KINGS: PROPHECY FULFILLED

But not everything is darkness! The Iberian-Israelite monarchist perspective offers prophetic hope. If the Iberian peoples (and Bretons, and French, and Irish, and Scandinavians) are the true descendants of the Twelve Tribes, then the promises of restoration apply to them, not to the impostor Khazars who currently occupy Palestine.

Promise 1: Restoration of the Davidic Monarchy

Jeremiah 33:17 promises:

"A man will never be lacking from David to sit on the throne of the House of Israel."

Where is this throne? Not in Jerusalem—the city was defiled and the temple was definitively destroyed in 70 CE, exactly as Christ prophesied ("Not one stone will be left upon another," Matthew 24:2). The throne migrated westward, following the tribes.

Ancient Irish tradition preserves the legend of Tea Tephi, alleged daughter of King Zedekiah of Judah, who escaped the Babylonian conquest and traveled (with the prophet Jeremiah) to Ireland around 580 BC, bringing with her the Stone of Jacob (Lia Fáil). This stone became the Stone of Coronation for Irish kings, later Scottish (Stone of Scone), and finally English (currently under the Throne of Westminster).

Whether this legend is literal or symbolic, the underlying truth is clear: the Davidic lineage has been preserved in European monarchies, not in Edomite claimants. The royal families of Scotland, England, Spain, and Portugal all claim (and genealogists demonstrate) descent from ancient lineages that trace back to the Israelite tribes.

Promise 2: Material Blessings

Deuteronomy 28:1-14 lists the blessings of obedience, including:

Supremacy over other nations Agricultural prosperity Military success

Lending to many nations, without borrowing

Which peoples dominated the world in the last five centuries? The Christian European nations: Portugal, Spain, France, England, Netherlands. They built empires that spanned the globe. The Age of Discoveries, the Industrial Revolution, British naval dominance—all prophetic fulfillments of the promises to ISRAEL!

Of course, modernists will object: "But what about the curses of Deuteronomy 28:15-68 for disobedience?" Ah, yes, those have been fulfilled too! The plagues, the wars, the oppressions—but always with a remnant preserved, because God promised never to completely destroy Israel (Jeremiah 30:11, 46:28).

The World Wars of the 20th century can be seen as divine judgments on Europe's apostasy—the abandonment of genuine Christianity, Masonic infiltration, the tolerance of Judaic-Talmudic influences. But even in these fratricidal wars (Europeans killing Europeans—Jacob fighting against Jacob), the racial core survived.

Promise 3: The New Exodus

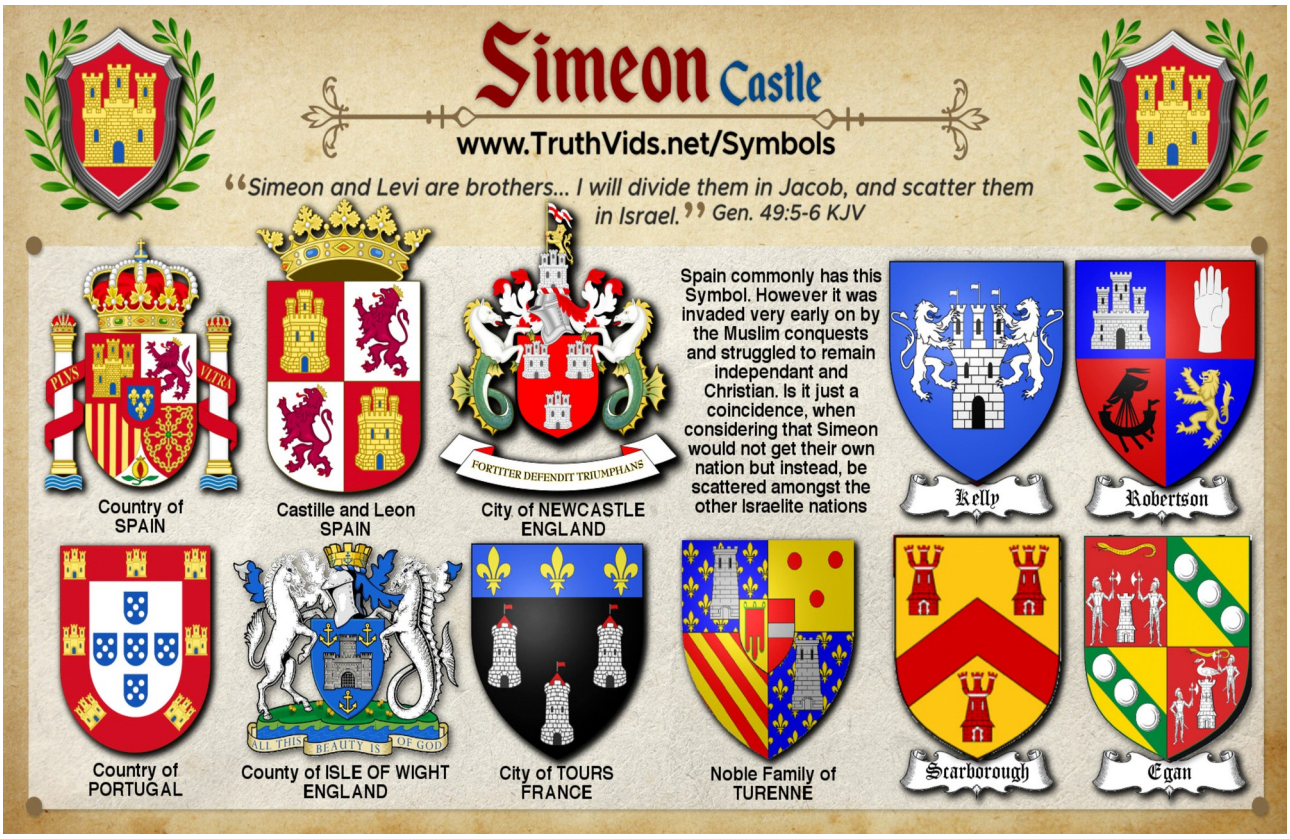
Isaiah 11:11-12 prophesies:

"On that day, the Lord will extend His hand to rescue the remnant of His people... He will raise a banner for the nations and gather the exiles of Israel, and the dispersed of Judah He will congregate from the four corners of the earth."

Dispensationalists (another Judeo-Christian heresy) interpret this as referring t o modern Jews returning to Israel. But we know the truth: it refers to the identity awakening of the true Heirs of the Promise!

When the European peoples recognize their true Israelite heritage, when the Christian monarchies are restored, when Freemasonry is exposed and destroyed, when the Edomite impostors are expelled from the Holy Land—then the true eschatological fulfillment will begin.

It will not be an escapist "Rapture" where Christians evaporate to heaven (another recent invention popularized by John Nelson Darby in the 19th century). It will be the establishment of the Kingdom of Christ on Earth, with its capital not in a corrupted Jerusalem, but in a New Jerusalem—possibly spiritual, possibly literal in a restored Christian Europe.



PORTUGAL: THE TRIBE OF JUDAH IN THE FAR WEST

Focusing specifically on Portugal (since we are writing in Portuguese and adopting an Ibero-Israelite perspective), the converging evidence suggests that the Portuguese territory was primarily populated by the tribe of Judah, with contributions from Benjamin and Levi.

Etymological Evidence:

"Lusitania" - The Roman name for Portugal. Proposed derivation: " Luz-Shittah-Ania", meaning "Place/Land of the Staff/Scepter of Light". The scepter is a symbol of Judah (Genesis 49:10).

"Porto" and "Portugal" - From "Portus Cale". Some alternative etymologists suggest "Portu-Gal", where "Gal" could relate to "Galut" (exile) or "Gilead".

Place names: Braga (possibly from "Berachah", blessing), Guimarães (from "Gimzo" or "Gemariah"), Coimbra (Conim-bira?).

Genetic Evidence:

Haplogroup studies in the Portuguese people show:

R1b at high frequencies (60-70% depending on the region) - This is the Bell Beaker/Amorite marker.

J at moderate frequencies (10-20%) - Possibly remnants of later Phoenician/Israelite migrations.

E at low frequencies (5-10%) - Pre-Israelite substrate (Hamite?).

In small but present frequencies (2-5%) - This is the Peqi'in Chalcolithic marker! Its presence in Portugal, even in low percentages, is extraordinarily significant.

Historical Evidence:

Phoenician Colonization - The Phoenicians were Canaanites, but there were also Israelites among them, especially after the fall of the Northern Kingdom. Solomon's alliance with Hiram of Tyre (1 Kings 5) established trade links. Joint ships traveled to " Tarshish" (Tartessos, in southern Spain), trading precious metals.

Apostle James - Tradition states that he preached in Iberia between 34-44 CE, focusing specifically on the communities that were already familiar with the Hebrew Scriptures—not random pagans, but dispersed Israelites who maintained ancestral traditions.

The Reconquista - The expulsion of the Moors (711-1492 CE) was led by Christian monarchies that saw themselves as defenders of the Faith. The first king of Portugal, Afonso Henriques (r. 1139-1185), had a vision of Christ before the Battle of Ourique, promising victory. Coincidence? Or divine Providence favoring the true Heirs of the Promise?

Prophetic Evidence—The "Marks of Israel" in Portugal:

Returning to the biblical marks identified in "Marks of Israel":

✓ A nation and a company of nations - Portugal, although small, created a global empire (Brazil, Africa, Asia) ✓ Blessings of wheat, wine, and olive oil - Alentejo is the granary, Douro the vineyard, Algarve the olive tree ✓ Maritime people - The Discoveries! Vasco da Gama, Magellan (Portuguese in the service of Spain), navigators who circumnavigated the globe ✓Missionary people - Saint Francis Xavier, Portuguese Jesuit missionaries converted millions in Asia and America ✓ People of the Word - The Bible was printed and disseminated in Portuguese; the people maintained Catholic faith (despite Roman corruptions) against Muslim invasions ✓ Doors of enemies - Control of strategic points: Strait of Gibraltar (proximity), Cape of Good Hope (African route), Macau and Goa (Asian gates)

PORTUGUESE ROYAL LINES AND THE DAVIDIC SEED

The Portuguese royal genealogies, when traced back through the Visigothic, Roman, and Greek lines, invariably arrive at the Trojan lineages and, from there, to the Near Eastern lineages.

House of Burgundy → Capetians → Carolingiens → Merovingians - This line, although controversial (the Merovingians are favorites among conspiracy theorists), demonstrates genetic continuity since the fall of the Roman Empire.

More specifically:

Afonso Henriques (1109-1185), the first king, descended from Henry of Burgundy, who descended from the French Capetians.

The Capetians claimed descent from Charlemagne (Carolingian).

Charlemagne descended from the Frankish kings who, according to medieval chroniclers, descended from the Sicambrians.

The Sicambrians, according to Gregory of Tours and other sources, came from the east, possibly from the cited region—precisely the route of the Lost Tribes!

The House of Avis (1385-1580), which included kings such as King John I (of Good Memory), King Duarte (the Eloquent), and Prince Henry (the Navigator), also shared this ancestry through maternal lines and inter-dynastic marriages.

Even the House of Braganza (1640-1910), the last dynasty, maintained genealogical ties with the European royal houses, all sharing a common ancestry that traces back to the Israelite tribes.

THE SPECIAL ROLE OF JUDAH AND THE SCEPTER

Genesis 49:10 contains the crucial prophecy about Judah:

"The scepter shall not depart from Judah, nor the staff from between his f eet, until Shiloh comes; and to him shall be the obedience of the peoples."

"Shiloh" refers to the Messiah (Christ). Therefore, the prophecy promises that Judah would maintain royal authority until the coming of Christ. But what happened afterwards?

Dispensationalists argue that the scepter has completely passed to Christ (spiritual truth), rendering earthly monarchies irrelevant. However, correct monarchical t heology recognizes that Christ, as King of Kings, delegated authority to earthly monarchs who govern under His sovereignty—the concept of the Divine Right of Kings.

Therefore, legitimate monarchies descended from Judah continue to bear the scepter under Christ. When these monarchies are overthrown by Masonic revolutions (such as in Portugal in 1910), it is not merely a political change—it is rebellion against divine order.

The eventual restoration of the Portuguese monarchy (prophesied in legends such as that of the Hidden One or the Fifth Empire of Father António Vieira and Fernando Pessoa) will therefore be not only national but eschatological—part of the divine plan to restore ISRAEL (the true European Heirs) to their place of leadership under Christ.

RESPONSE TO PREDICTABLE OBJECTIONS

Anticipating the hysterical cries of modernists, Judeo-Christians, and Masonic agents, let us respond to the most common objections:

Objection 1: "This is racism!"

Response: No, it is biblical theology. God chose Israel as a peculiar people (Deuteronomy 7:6). This choice was simultaneously racial (the physical descent of Abraham-Isaac-Jacob) and spiritual (faith and obedience). Denying the racial dimension is to deny the Incarnation—Christ came as a racial Jew (from the tribe of Judah), not as a "generic human being." Race matters theologically because God works through lineages, covenants, and genealogies.

Objection 2: "But Galatians 3:28 says there is neither Jew nor Greek!"

Response: Context, context, context! Paul is speaking of spiritual unity in Christ, not denying racial or national identities. In the same Pauline corpus, he identifies himself as "a Hebrew of Hebrews" (Philippians 3:5), maintains distinctions between peoples, and recognizes different roles for different groups. Unity in Christ does not nullify created distinctions; it transcends them without obliterating them.

Objection 3: "Geneticists do not support these theories!"

Response: Mainstream geneticists do not support them because they are funded by foundations controlled by Jewish-Zionist interests! Furthermore, the study we analyzed—published in the prestigious Nature Communications—unintentionally confirms the Israeli theses by showing that the Chalcolithic inhabitants were Europoid with blue eyes, and that they disappeared, being replaced by haplogroup-J populations. They simply refuse to connect the obvious dots because it would be academically suicidal.

Independent studies confirm Near Eastern migrations to Europe during the Neolithic/Chalcolithic. The "Hypothesis An

" of the origin of the Indo-Europeans (a rival to the "Steppe Hypothesis") places t he origins in Turkey/Caucasus—exactly consistent with Israelite routes!

Objection 4: "You are ignoring the current Jews!"

Response: We are not ignoring; we are exposing! The modern "Jews" are primarily:

Ashkenazim (80-85%) - Genetically Europeans (Khazars converted in the 8th-9th century), not Semites.

Sephardim - A mix of Edomite/Israelite remnants with Iberian conversions during the Moorish occupation.

Mizrahim - Eastern Jews, many genuinely Semitic but not necessarily Israelites (they may be descendants of other Semitic tribes or conversions).

Genetic studies show that Ashkenazim share more DNA with Europeans (Italians, Greeks) than with Palestinians or Arabs. This is exactly what we would expect fro m converted Khazars—a Turkic tribe from the Caucasus that adopted Talmudic Judaism for political reasons.

Objection 5: "This destroys the universal message of the Gospel!"

Answer: False dilemma! Recognizing that the promises of the Abrahamic Covenant are fulfilled in the European peoples does not prevent individuals of other races from being saved by grace through faith. Individual salvation is offered to all (John 3:16). However, the national and territorial promises specifically belong to Israel—the true European Heirs.

Furthermore, the Great Commission to bring the Gospel "to all nations" was precisely fulfilled by the Europeans! Portuguese, Spanish, English, and Dutch missionaries brought Christianity to Africa, Asia, the Americas, and Oceania. The Europeans fulfilled the Israelite mandate to be "a light to the nations" (Isaiah 49:6).

CONCLUSION: THE COMING AWAKENING

When the Harvard genetic study published its findings in August 2018, the researchers did not intend to validate British or Iberian Israelite theologies. They simply thought they were doing science—sequencing ancient DNA, modeling population migrations, publishing in prestigious journals.

But Providence has a sense of humor. The same genetic techniques that the Zionist Jews hoped to use to "prove" their connection to the Holy Land backfired spectacularly. They proved the opposite: that the true biblical inhabitants were Europoids with blue eyes and light skin, who disappeared from the region, being replaced by populations of haplogroup-J (the future Edomites-Jews).

Meanwhile, the European peoples—especially the Iberians, Celts, and Germans—carry the genetic, linguistic, cultural, and prophetic markers of the true Heirs of the Promise.

Portugal, this small nation at the westernmost edge of Europe, has disproportionately fulfilled the Abrahamic promises:

Discovered new worlds (blessing of expansion)

Spread the Gospel (light to the nations)

Dominated the seas (authority over "gates of the enemies")

It produced wealth (gold from Brazil, spices from India)

It maintained Christian faith through centuries of adversity

The destruction of the monarchy in 1910 was not a coincidence; it was a calculated attack by Masonic-Jewish forces attempting to eradicate a str onghold of true Israel. But prophecies cannot be annulled by human blows.

Christ, the Hidden One will come. The monarchy will be restored. The European peoples will awaken to their true identity. And when that happens, when millions of Portuguese, Spanish, Irish, English, French, German, and Scandinavian people recognize that they are the true Israel, that they are the Heirs of the Promises, that they have a divine right to the global leadership under Christ—then the ultimate struggle against the Synagogue of Satan will begin.

The Edomite impostors will tremble. The Freemasons will be exposed. The corrupt institutions will fall. And upon the ruins of the apostate modernity, the Kingdom will rise—not a Jewish-Zionist kingdom based on genetic lies and historical frauds, but the true Kingdom of Christ, governed by the true children of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

Until then, we remain steadfast, armed with the Word of God in one hand and honest science in the other, proclaiming the truth that venal academics and cowardly ecclesiastics fear to pronounce:

EUROPEANS ARE ISRAEL. THE JEWS ARE EDOM. AND THE TRUTH, THOUGH SUPPRESSED FOR MILLENNIA, CANNOT BE HIDDEN FOREVER.

'Soli Deo Gloria. Portugal and Hispania, Tribes of Judah, forever.'
